

1. Cut these out (you will need several of each shape, the exact number will depend on the length of the surface you wish to cover):

2. Arrange like this:

3. Continue to assemble in the pattern above until the lei measures double the length of the area that you would like to use it on.

4. Using a running stitch, sew down the length of the lei.

5. Holding on end of the thread steady, pull the other to gather the fabric. Gather until the lei measures half the length of its original size.

6. Pin to desired surface.

7. Sew on, either by hand or by machine.
